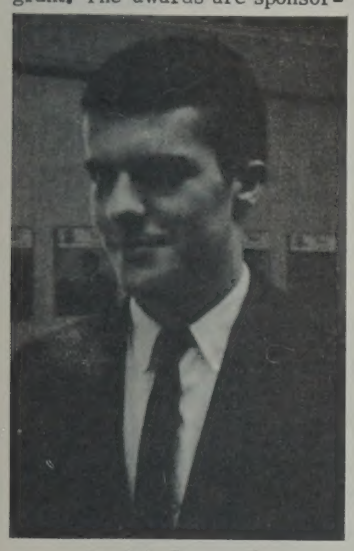
Simmons Wins Summer Newspaper Internship

Paul B. Simmons, St. Michael's junior, has been selected by The Newspaper Fund, Inc., to receive a summer newspaper internship and to receive a $500 scholarship grant. The awards are sponsored by The Wall Street Journal.



Paul B. Simmons

Simmons, news editor of The Michaelman, is one of about 100 liberal arts college juniors selected by The Newspaper Fund to get assistance toward a career in the newspaper field.

Successful recipients are assisted to get a full time summer job in the gathering, editing or writing of news. At the end of the summer and following a report from the managing editor, the student qualifies for a $500 grant toward senior tuition.

Simmons, a staff member for three years, has also been on the staff of WSSE, the campus radio stations.

Simmons' receipt of this award marks the second year that a member of The Michaelman staff has been so honored. Last year Editor-in-Chief Luis A. Villares participated in the program and spent the summer as a member of the staff of the Pulitzer prize-winning San Juan (Puerto Rico) Star.

Glee Club Has Concerts In Mass. This Weekend

by Jim McMahon

This weekend, March 9 and 10, the Glee Club travels to Chicopee Mass. to present a Saturday evening joint concert at Our Lady of the Elms College and a Sunday evening solo concert in Northamption, Mass. This has been arranged by Fr. Robert Wagner, a former president of the St. Michael's Glee Club.

On Saturday evening, in addition to music from theindividual repertoires , they will jointly present selections from Schubert's Mass in D Minor and a medley of songs from "The King and I."

On Sunday night, St. Michael's will present a complete program of music from its own repertoire.

The St. Michael's College Glee Club and the women's chorus of L'Ecole Normale de Musique (Sister Therese, C.N.D., Director), part of the University of Montreal, presented this year's first on-campus joint concert Sunday evening in the college theatre.

An appreciative audience was entertained by a variety of sacred and secular music, sung in several languages. The program conducted by Mr. William Tortolano, was highlighted by the combined Clubs' presentation of the Kyrie and the Credo from Mozart's Great Mass in C minor.

First on the program was the presentation of L'Ecole Normale de Musique of the Duet from Bach's Cantata 93 and of Verdi's "Laudi alle Vergine Maria." They followed with a song from Canadian folklore, arranged by Sister Saint-Jean du Sacre Coeur, C.N.C., and finally, Britten's "A Ceremony of Carols" which included "Wolcum Yole," "O My Deare Heart" with Miss Lisa Desautels as soprano soloist, and "This Little Babe." The group was accompanied by Sister Augustin, C.N.D.

The St. Michael's Glee Club then presented the Duet from Bach's Cantata 125, the Prisoners' Chorus from Beethoven's "Fidelio," with Patrick Mahoney, tenor, and Edward O'Brien, bass, taking the solos; and four folk songs: a French-Canadian number, "Les Raftsmen;" Vaughn Williams' arrangement of "The Turtle Dove" with Patrick Mahoney as tenor soloist; "Marry a Woman Uglier than You," a calypso tune in which Joseph Corbett sang the tenor solo; and the well-known American spiritual "Dry Bones."

Accompanist for the Glee Club was Thomas Corcoran; for the Bach cantata, a full accompaniment of piano, two violins, and double bass was present.

For the finale, the two choruses combined to sing the Kyrie and the first half of the Credo from Mozart's Mass, featuring Miss Denise Normandeau as soprano soloist in the beautiful Kyrie.

'Career Night' Set Thursday; Alumni To Counsel Students

by Robert Rinaldi

On March 14, at 7:15, Career Night will be held at St. Michael's College. Sponsored by the Student Forum, this much needed service has been revived after several years.

Career Night is designed to acquaint the students of St. Michael's College with pertinent insight into particular fields of endeavor. This is provided by successful alumni of the college.

The program has been initiated with a two fold objective: 1. To give students an idea as to what certain careers are like. 2. To present an objective analysis of these careers showing advantages and disadvantages.

Following a keynote address, eight speakers will be stationed in various classrooms about the campus available to the interested students. Included in the fields are: medicine, law, business, accounting, teaching, journalism and others.

The committee insists that this service is not geared to the seniors since most fourth year men have already chosen their slot in life.

The program is designed specifically to assist the undergraduate in choosing his profession. An introduction to a variety of these will naturally help the eventual decision.

The administration has cooperated fully in this operation and conscientious support by the student bidy is all that is needed to insure success.

PROGRAM

&:15 Keynote Address
7:45 Clinics - Lectures given in classrooms
8:15 ten minute break
8:25 resumption of lectures
9:00 completion

At nine, coffee and donuts will be served in Alliot Hall. At this time also the interested student will be able to engage in informal conversation with the alumni. It is hoped that the students will take advantage of this opportunity and will contribute to the success and good name of the school. The lecturers have traveled some distance to attend and a good showing will certainly bolster their spirits.

Chairman of the affair is Bob McGee, assisted by Edwin Alger and Tom McHale. The Crown and Sword Society will provide ushers.

Peace Corps Hopefuls Take Placement Test

The Peace Corps is quite a husky baby as it starts its third year.

Sixteen young people from the Burlington area took the Peace Corps placement tests Thursday at St. Michael's College. About half were from St. Michael's and there were girls from Trinity.

Other applicants included a young farmer from the area as well as alumni of other colleges who had seen the announcement of the test.

Dr. Henry G. Fairbanks of St. Michael's faculty and the Peace Corps liaison man for the campus supervised the tests with St. Michael's Registrar, Daniel F. MacDonald.

The morning test ran three and a half hours and the afternoon optional test ran another hour. The placement tests covered the fields of aptitudes and training since every talent is useful, Dr. Fairbanks said.

Vocation Week Features Four Religious Orders

Four religious communities will have representatives at St. Michael's College for a week starting Sunday, March 10.

Religious Vocation Week will offer the students a chance to see the work of the Maryknollers, the Paulists, the White Fathers and the Edmundites who conduct the college.

Each of the four communities will have a display in Alliot Hall and representatives will be on hand to answer questions.

To set the theme for the week, Rev. Raymond P. Doherty, S.S.E., Edmundite vocation director, will preach on vocations at the Masses on Sunday.

The week is being arranged by the campus Holy Name Society. Chairman for the week is James S. Slavin.

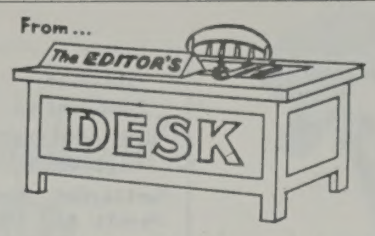
Business Forum Elects Trinity Girl Officer

Miss Jeanne Bolduc of Trinity College is the first girl this year elected officer at a St. Michael's Club. Miss Bolduc was voted secretary of the Business Forum for the coming year.

Other Forum officers are Phil Cronan, president; Frank Logan, vice-president; and Gerard Bushel, treasurer.

The Business Forum will sponsor a panel discussion March 13 at 7:30 P.M. in Science Hall 107. Four managers of the IBM Corporation will discuss "What IBM looks for in college graduates".

The meeting is free and open to all.



Students who must follow the diocesan fast law during Lent now realize how true Fr. Nelson Ziter's words were last Sunday. During the Sunday Masses Fr. Ziter, our spiritual director, said that the dining hall does not cater to those students who must observe the fast. He added that it was up to the individual student to make his own arrangements to comply with the fast law.

The large number of students coming to lunch after their 11:30 class Tuesday, were surprised to find that the dining hall was already out of the non-meat meal although more than 45 minutes still remained before the end of the lunch hour.

Thus, students 21 years or over were left with one of three choices: 1.) skip the lunch altogether; 2.) eat the meal dish and skip the supper that night; 3.) resort to the "nutritious" substitute of two boxes of cereal. However, too often the line is out of the most demanded cereals. Some students solve their problem easily by going to the snack bar which operated at considerable loss last year.

To our knowledge, this was the first time that such a situation has happened this year and we don't doubt that it was an oversight. But since the Lent season is just starting, we would not like the incident repeated.

We are glad to see that the Student Forum is concerned with the food situation in the dining hall. In this week's Forum meeting members considered the question of whether peanut butter should be served alone or with jelly.

The conservative faction claimed that peanut butter ought to be left undisturbed and unchanged in its status. Those in favor of collective security maintained there was strength in the union of the two spreads. The members voted to refer the question to the Food Committee.

We wonder if next week our governing body will debate whether we should have white or rye bread and/or both for the peanut butter and jelly and whether students ought to use a knife or a spoon to spread them.

* * * * * * * * * *

Our heartiest congratulations to all the members of the Glee Club and its director Mr. William Tortolano for the excellent concert offered last Sunday with L'Ecole Normale de Musique of Montreal. The Club is fostering good will in all their tours thus enhancing the prestige of St. Michael's and showing what the true Michaelman spirit is like.

Politics Club Tour Washington

by Jack Howe

While most Michaelmen were home during the mid-winter holiday, ten members of the Politics Club paid a visit to our nation's capital.

The purpose of the trip was to enable the students to familiarize themselves with the workings of the various government agencies in the hope that they may find a career to their taste and improve their knowledge of the operation.

After meeting with Congressman Stafford and Senator Aiken the Michaelmen visited the House of Representatives and the Senate, which were in session. During this time they also had the chance to see different Congressional Committees in session, one of them concerned with the Cuban situation and another with federal aid to education.

The afternoon the Politics Club journeyed to the Supreme Court and spent some time listening to the judicial debate that took place.

During the following days, they took a tour through the FBI building, were given a most informative talk by an officer of the United States Foreign Service and paid a visit to the CIA offices in Virginia.

FROM THE LILLY PAD

by Bob Lilly

Well, for the last few days or so the weather has been unusually warm for this neck of the woods and many students are already suffering from Spring Fever. And only a week after vacation ended.

Anyway, the warm air tends to put one in a reminiscent mood so this writer decided to muse over some of the copies of The Michaelman of years gone by. In doing this he discovered many numerous and unknown facts, remembered, perhaps by one or two stalwarts.

Members of the Junior and Senior Classes may remember a column entitled "Inquiring Photographer" which asked different students their opinion on a certain subject. Well, how many remember the answer Dick Keelty, now a senior, gave to a question asked about certain new rules on campus. It seemed to run something like this: "As a matter of fact I don't mind the regulations because I like college life so much..."

John Dorsey of the Junior Class gave the following answer as a Frosh when he was asked what he expected to get from college: "During my four years at SMC I hope to graduate with a good liberal education in order to achieve a basic understanding of our complex society."

After a successful season the basketball team deserves praise as does Doc Jacobs and Ed Markey. Still in a reminiscent mood, one remembers Dartmouth coach Tony Lupien's comment referring to Doc when he said Doc was "one of the greatest basketball strategists in the game today." This was in 1959.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

Probably everybody on campus has noticed the signs posted on the dorms signifying that the building is a fall-out shelter. For instance, the sign on Lyons states that the capacity is 155 people. One would wonder what the overflow is supposed to do when he realizes that more than two hundred people live there.

Another question that might arise is would it be morally allowable for students to arm themselves in order to protect their place from the natives from Winooski; for instance, the Fire Department.

Gaelic Knights Won't March In N.Y. Parade

St. Michael's Irish Club was given the Shillelagh this year because the group will be unable to march in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade in New York City.

The loyal Sons of Erin had intended to send a representative marching unit to the parade and had received campus permission, but due to an overabundance of marching units in the parade, and the inability to get a band ready in time, the trip had to be cancelled.

Bob Etherson, spokesman for the group, stated that an early application will be made for next year's parade, and that no future activities have been planned for this year. The annual trip is the high point of the club's year.

Plans are being made now to reestablish the club and with hope and the blessing of St. Patrick, New York will play host next year to a fine sample of Gaelic Michaelmen.

A Theologian Looks At The Military: Fr. Duford Addresses ROTC Units

by Robert Lilly

Gerard P. Duford, S.S.E., of the Theology department recently addressed the members of the Air Force ROTC detachment on campus. The title of his talk was: "A Theologian Looks at the Military."

He began by saying that one who lives in close intimacy with an object, person, a duty, etc., gradually develops the habit of looking through it or around it rather than at it.

"It is not easy to be completely objective in our consideration of something . . . which is in constant or daily attendance upon our thoughts, our actions, our plans . . .", it said that if some of these things are unpleasant, it is quite normal for our mind to oppose them. Because of this outlook, one may very easily distort the facts or attempt to obliterate their existence from our conscious mind. Father Duford called this the "psychology of intellectual blindness and of prejudice."

Father said, however, that he did not fear ignorance, prejudice or misconceptions but that he did fear the positive refusal to be enlightened, "the refusal of the human will to accept the truth, the reality, which the mind sees.;; He added that this is "A complete prostitution and distortion of the human personality."

He applied this to be military and the attitudes of many students to the military. He stressed that in this day of mass communications of ideas and prejudices we are "prone to absorb unrealistic attitudes towards military realities." He added that it seemed to him that it is the attitude that the military condition of life is an "unmitigated" evil.

The theologian then gave a brief history showing how, in human society for the past two thousand years, there has been a real neccessity of the military for the continued existence of Christianity. This is true, he said, because men are addicted to "human perversity arising from man's inability to perfectly control his passions."

In our Christian Society, he went on, military establishments are intended for "the preservation of our own existence as a Christian world." He then raised the question: "are we or are we not willing to make the efforts necessary to preserve the Christian Life?" He followed the historical proof of this from the first century of Christendom through Constantine, the Crusades, on to the present day, saying that we "must look at things as they are.

He ended by saying that the military "is an instrument of self-preservation," and that it is the duty of every Christian to aid, either directly or indirectly, with that instrument. "Any other attitude of mind is betrayal, and as in the case of Judas Iscariot, betrayal is the first step to suicide."

Knights Add 'Twist'

by Kirk R. Weixel

Three St. Michael's sophomores have completed a fifty mile hike from the campus to Vergennes and back in 17 hours.

The group was composed of Padraic Ryan, James Whitman, Dennis Braiden, and Alphonse Sirica, but Sirica found it necessary to drop out 13 miles from Vergennes due to a bad blister on his foot.

Ryan got the idea when President Kennedy re activated an order of President Theodore Roosevelt's specifying that Marines should be able to complete a hike of 50 miles as part of their training. He originally talked four other sophomores into making the trip, but William Troy never left the campus because of an attack of flu.

At 3:10 P.M., Sat., February 16, the four departed from the campus, surrounded by reporters and radio newsmen from the area. Several people from the immediate vicinity brought them coffee, hot chocolate, and cookies as they marched along in sub-zero temperature.

When the hikers reached Vergennes late Saturday night, they discovered a "twist" dance at City Hall and decided to stop in. After an hour and a half of twisting, they started the return trip.

At 7:50 the following morning, the threesome arrived on campus thoroughly exhausted, but did manage to run the final 100 yards to the Alumni Hall dormitory, smiling happily for photographers and reporters. They rode to Mass that night.

Editor Attends N.Y. Parley

America's college and university editors face "a growing challenge and opportunity" to serve their readers by filling in gaps left by the daily press.

This was the theme, repeatedly emphasized by leaders in government and journalism, as 200 campus editors gathered Feb. 22-24, at the Overseas Press Club for the Fifth Annual College Editors Conference on international Affairs.

Representing The MICHAELMAN and St. Michael's College was Luis A. Villares, Editor-in-chief.

Sponsored by the OPC and the U.S. National Student Association under a grant from the Reader's Digest Foundation, the three-day Conference resembled a cross between a homecoming weekend and a political convention. Tyros and professionals mingled at meals, in seminars and in informal sessions throughout the weekend, exchanging opinions, expressing convictions and asking questions based on the Conference theme: A Free Press for a Free World.

For the group discussions, five "problem areas" were designated for topics: Cuba and Latin America; the Sino-Soviet conflict; Africa; Asia; and the United Nations. The program was designed to facilitate study of these problems in a number of aspects. Expert journalists provided first-hand accounts of situations in many trouble spots of the world.

Villares participated in the Latin America and United Nations seminars.

Major speakers from government included Rep. John Lindsay (R-NY), Deputy Peace Corps Director Bill Moyers, Assistant USIA Director Thomas Sorenson, and Assistant Presidential Press Secretary Malcolm Kilduff. Distinguished journalists who spoke included NY Post Editor James Wechsler, Hearst staff writer Bob Considine and NEA columnist Leon Dennen.

A Cuban student, Edwardo Sanchez, spoke about the future of the Cuban Youth Movement. Sanchez was a participant in the April, 1961 Boy of Pigs invasion and was released in the recent exchange of prisoners for food and medicines after spending one and a half years in a Cuban prison.

Conference highlights included presentation of OPC plaques and scrolls and Reader's Digest cash awards for outstanding campus coverage of foreign affairs to newspapers and their editors from the Universities of Michigan, Texas, Illinois and New Mexico, and to Trinity (Conn.) College, Kalamazoo (Mich.) College and Columbia (NY) University.

Know Communist Strategy Methods, Urges Philbrick

by Joseph Guilfoyle

Mr. Herbert A. Philbrick, famed counterspy for the FBI, spoke before a "standing room only" crowd in packed Austin Hall on February 20. His topic was "Zero Hour for America".

Philbrick stressed the urgency of the West's position during his 90 minute presentation. He pointed out that our way of life faces extinction unless the rapid advance of Communism is checked by positive action on our part.

The positive action program advocated by Philbrick contained two major points: 1) Become informed as to Communist strategy and techniques, and, 2) Urge your Congressmen to initiate positive legislation.

Philbrick maintained that it is not, nor ever has been, the policy of the U.S. to win the Cold War. He suggested the establishment of a Freedom Academy which would train citizens to fight a cold war in much the same manner as our present military academies train men to fight hot wars.

During the question period in Alliot Hall, following the lecture, Philbrick explained the education program as a weapon against Communism. Under this program, he pointed out, the instilling of patriotism and good citizenship in your youth at an early age can be a very potent weapon in the fight we are now waging.

Mr. Philbrick expressed deep satisfaction at the vibrant interest displayed by the students of St. Michael's.

Krinski Knows What P-Day Is. How About You?

by Jack Howe

Way back in the late 1940's and well into the 50's what we know as Junior Weekend was known as the Junior Prom. Besides a difference in the name of this social highlight of the year, though, there are other dissimilarities between the two. The St. Michael's Junior Prom of yesteryear had a theme, well known entertainers, etc., and "P-Day" activities of a sort. Unlike today the different activities traditional with Preview Day were held on the same day as was the formal dance. In addition to such field activities as the 60 yard dash and the baseball throw there were tugs of war and sack races.

HORRIBLES' PARADE

A tradition of the "p-Day" of some year ago was the "Parade of Horribles". This consisted of a number of horse-drawn pageants with Michaelman costumed in accord with the theme of the Prom. This cavalcade of floats and autos would travel through the surrounding towns raising havoc wherever they went. Unfortunately, though, the "Parade of Horribles" was not too successful and was discontinued some years ago.

MARCH 30 SET

Not until the mid-50's did Junior Weekend get just that name. It was at this time that P-Day began to come into its own. The purpose of P-Day is to give Michaelmen a glimpse at what Junior Weekend will have to offer and each year co-chairman of this event go to some lengths to make sure that it will be an enjoyable and memorable time for all present.

In the past P-Day activities have been held at the same time as classes so that some students found it very difficult to attend. This year, however, P-Day will take place Saturday afternoon giving everyone the opportunity to participate. The date to watch for is March 30.

STUDENT FORUM

by Bill Eagan

MEETING OF FEBRUARY 19, 1963

This week's meeting of the Student Forum followed the pattern set by most of the recent meetings. It was quite short and very uneventful. The general order of business was taken up by committee reports and a few motions.

The most interesting report from the stand point of the student body, was the Game Room report that was delivered by Mr. Dave Gadbois. He reported that there is presently $900 in the game room fund that has been collected in the game room and from fines that have been levied on the students for disciplinary infractions. Certain repairs have been carried out on the game room and more are under consideration.

Mr. Bob McGee reported that the plans for Career Night are progressing rapidly and that this event on March 14 should be a success. Also under reports, Mr. Tom McHale informed the Forum that graduate school catalogues are being procured and will be available to the seniors next year.

NEW BUSINESS

Mr. Jack Smith moved that the Student Welfare Committee investigate the possibility of having certain water fountains repaired in the dormitories. The fact that parts are on order for these fountains came to light. Due to this, the motion was defeated.

Providing a coffee hour for the members of the Forum was the subject of a motion by Mr. Bob McGee. The sum of $50 was asked for in order to provide this service. Mr. Andy Fay spoke for the finance committee, since there was no committee meeting, in approving the motion. The motion was passed.

The last two motions that came before the Forum were both concerned with permission to hold activities. The first, presented by Mr. Charles Burke, requested permission for the Pre-Medical Society to hold a lecture in S 107 on Feb. 27, the motion was passed.

The second motion, introduced by Mr. Dom Erba, asked that the Sophomore Class be given permission to hold a night skiing trip on March 8 if the trip on March 1 is successful. The permission was granted.

MEETING OF 3/5/63

The highlight of this week's meeting of the Student Forum was a short address by the newly appointed Dean of Men and Forum moderator, Fr. Gokey. The essence of the talk was that the Forum and the Dean of Men need each other in order to fulfill the requirements of their respective jobs. Both work for the ultimate good of the student body as a whole.

Mr. Joe Hogan reported, as Chairman of the Student Welfare Committee, that the reason for the double cut policy on Saturdays is the students' indifference to Saturday classes. The policy will not be permanent if the indifferent attitude is changed. Thus if the direct reason for the policy is changed, the policy will be cancelled with no attention to the indirect cause.

Also included in the Welfare Committee report was the result of the investigation of the Snack Bar. Two plans for improvement of the situation were considered, but both were dropped because of their impractibility.

The Club Status Committee, headed by Mr. Joe Hanley, reported that no trophy was awarded during the first semester for the best club on campus, since no club had really earned such a trophy.

NEW BUSINESS

Mr. Brian Quinn moved that the Sophomore Class be permitted to hold a dance on the eve of St. Patrick's Day. The only objection was that the date would fall in Lent, but since this had been taken care of, the motion was passed without opposition.

The last motion of the meeting concerned the Dining Hall. Mr. Frank Lyttle moved that the Food Committee investigate the possibility of serving jelly with the peanut butter and to ask if the milk could be homogenized for each meal. The motion was passed.

Win Final Home Game; All Five Starters Sparkle

Playing before a small crowd at the Burlington Memorial Auditorium the Purple defeated St. Lawrence 87-63.

The New Yorkers who entered the contest with a fine 12-6 record found his Knights' defense too tough to crack. Employing a tight 2-3 zone, guards Ed McConnell and Fred Cerrato picked off a number of St. Lawrence passes which caused the visitors to slow down their offense.

While the Larries were having a tough time finding the hoop, St. Michael's was working the ball around beautifully and when the first half came to an end, the Knights held a comfortable 39-24 lead.

At the start of the second half, the Knights showed no signs of letting up as they literally ran their opponents off the court. Richie Tarrant who had 10 half points started finding the range from the inside even more as he scored 16 second half points. Along with this, he put the big men of the Larries in early foul trouble.

While Tarrant along with Walt Baumann and Ed Kryger continued to pile up the score, Cerrato and McDonnell continued to apply pressure on the backcourt men of the Larries.

When the end came, the Knights had picked up their 11th win of the season. Leading the surge was Dick Tarrant with 26. He was followed by Walt Baumann who had 19 points. The other three members of the starting unit also managed to hit in double figures.

Leading St. Lawrence was Al Jonsen who had 24. Gene Simonsen followed him with 11.

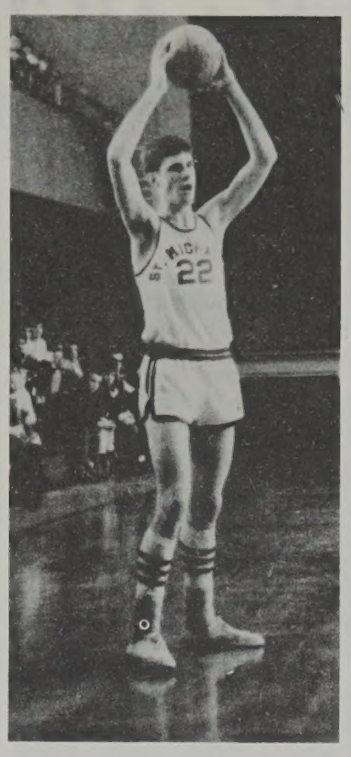
Knights Undefeated At Home



Richie Tarrant

Ed McDonnell

The long season has come to an end tor the St. Michael's College varsity basketball team. Even though the team was not able to gain entrance into the NCAA regionals, they still were able to build up a 13-5 record, one of the finest in New England. They were unbeaten at home and extended to 14 consecutive wins at Memorial Auditorium. The Knights started the season away on a dismal note as they dropped their opener by a score of 72-66 to a hot shooting Colby quintet. The Knights then proceeded to knock off two state rivals, Norwich and Middlebury, with the greatest of ease. With the marked improvement of Richie Tarrant and Ed Kryger, the Saints traveled to Worcester in hope of pulling an upset.

Almost was the word down at Holy Cross, but not enough was the final answer as the Crusaders managed to hang on to a 60-51 victory over the hustling Michaelmen.

With the Christmas season ahead, the team took to the practice court for two weeks and the effects of a long layoff were quite evident as the Knights defeated Hartford in front of a home crowd by a score of 81-70 in a game that was very sloppy. Once again the Jacobsmen found Norwich and Middlebury to their liking as they easily disposed of them.

The "game of the year" was next as St. Michael's defeated St. Anselm's down at the auditorium, 70-68 in a game as exciting as ever seen. Starring was Walt Baumann who came out of his first half closet and fired in 19 second half points.

St. Michael's four game winning streak came to an end in Boston as the Purple dropped a heartbreaking 66-58 decision to Northeastern, the number 1 small college in New England.

Things once again turned to the happy side as Sophomores Ed Kryger and Richie Tarrant led the Saints on the winning trail against the powerful Dolphins of LeMoyne by a count of 74-56. Once again things were too good to be true as the Purple dropped a 68-62 decision to Assumption which proved to be the determining factor in the rejection of the Knights' bid for entrance into the regionals.

Feeling a bit dejected, the Knights returned to Burlington only to find the hostile Catamounts waiting, in their new gym. When the two met, it was all UVM as the Cats defeated the Saints 90-77.

From then on, it was all success. The Purple hit the winning trail and never fell off again. First they defeated Stonehill in front of a Winter Weekend crowd by a 12 point margin as hustling Ed McDonnell sparked the Knights.

The team's greatest moment was next as they completely humiliated Vermont in a revenge tilt by a count of 88-64. Richie Tarrant led the surge with a 27 point effort and rugged Walt Baumann held Vermont ace Benny Becton scoreless.

Next stop was AIC and once again the Knights were victorious as they defeated the Aces handily in a dull encounter. Sparkling once again was Ed McDonnell.

In the final home appearance for seniors Walt Baumann, Bob Hoehl, Dick Keely and Fred Cerrato, the Saints easily defeated St. Lawrence 87-63.

Walt Baumann night was next as Walt flipped in 36 points against Merrimack in a game that will never be forgotten by Walt. No matter what he threw, in it went.

The end came in New York as the team closed its NCAA season with a six game winning streak by defeating Adelphi 73-61. NYAC bumped us 82-73 in exhibition play.

St. Michael's was able to compile a fine 13-5 record in a season that had its good and bad moments. One game, Assumption, was the difference in deciding whether the Knights gained entrance into the regionals. Therefore, despite the team's inability to gain entrance into the tournament the season can be easily tabbed as a good one. We shared the state crown with Vermont, a title that has never been completely out of our hands since 1953.

The Michaelman's Mike

by Mike Tranghese

Three months is a long time, but to think back to Dec. 1 when the Knights opened the season it seems as if it were just the other day. Four years is an even longer time, but if one were to ask Seniors Walt Baumann, Fred Cerrato, Bob Hoehl and Dick Keelty how long it was, I am sure their answers would be; it doesn't seem possible. Therefore, before they leave I shall dedicate the final basketball column of the year to these men who gave us an unbeaten season home to remember.

Mr. Baumann as he was called by his teammates hails from Secaucus, N.J., and Walter, who came to St. Michael's from Arizona State was a three year varsity performer in which he managed to average double figures each of these years. Walter also was the team's leader on and off the court. The big "duke" had many good nights, but his best was one in which most Michaelmen were unable to witness, Walter piled up 36 points in his next to last varsity performance down at Merrimack. Walt, as aggressive ballplayer as you will ever see, is majoring in Education and if he maintains the same attitude that he has had while here at St. Mike's success surely lays in his path.

Fred Cerrato, another New Jerseyer, will be leaving, and whoever fills his sneaks will have a tough job. Fred was a three year starter who caught the fancy of the crowd because of his style and all around hustle. "Hands," who had his scoring moments, always drew the toughest defensive assignments and he always came through .Top highlights to Fred's career must be the fine defensive job he did on Vinny Ernst, his Junior year, when he held him to five, and his sparkling performance the night the Saints came from way back to defeat St. Anselm's.

Next on the list is Bobby Hoehl, the "shot" of the team. Bobby, a math major, possessed one of the finest jump shots ever to be seen here at St. Mike's and when he was on, there was no stopping him. A perfect example of this was last year's game against Vermont when Bobby fired in seven straight jump shots in leading the Knights to a victory. This game must be ranked among the best Bobby has played. Besides losing a fine shooter, the team will be losing someone who hustled with determination every minute.

The final Senior to leave is Dick Keelty, the speedster on the team. Likeable Dick, who even though did not play much during his stay here, played an important part in preparing the team for the ballgames. Dick was a member of the "red shirts" and he in all actuality was their captain. This young man through hustle and aggressiveness always had the varsity on the run. The "Blur" as he was known by his teammates, was the crowd pleaser also. This was evident in this past A.I.C. game. When Dick scored, the crowd all but tore the roof down. Surely Dick will be missed.

These are our Seniors, the departed members of this past year's team and when next year rolls around they will be sorely missed. Therefore, in conclusion I would like to offer my congratulations to all four of these Seniors for a job they have performed exceptionally well during these past four years.

To clarify the various rumors that have hit the St. Michael's College campus here is the official word on the situation concerning the NCAA regionals.

The four teams selected to participate are: defending champion Northeastern, Tri- State champion Fairleigh Dickinson, Springfield College and Assumption. The regionals which will be played in Boston at the Northeastern gymnasium pit Fairleigh Dickinson against Springfield in the Friday opener and Assumption in the nightcap.

Saints End With 13-5 Mark; Set All Time Scoring Record

Playing in an exhibition ballgame and their final for their season, the St. Michael's college basketball team dropped an 82-73 decision to the powerful New York Athletic Club.

The New York Athletic Club found very little trouble in jumping off into a quick 10 point lead as the New Yorkers could not miss a shot from the floor.

Leading the surge was George McArdle who had 12 first half points.

With the scoreboard reading 45-29, it seemed like sure curtains for the Saints.

The start of the second half was a completely different story as the Knights tightened up on defense and then they began to find the range. The 16 point New York lead was cut down gradually and with eight minutes remaining in the contest the Saints were only down by five, 62-57.

NYAC then notched two quick hoops and from then on the Saints were unable to come any closer than 7 as both teams continued to trade hoops.

With this win, the New Yorkers upped their record to 23-1 and this broke a St. Michael's six game winning streak. Since the Athletic club is made up of former college men, the game and the various statistics will not be counted on the final and official N.C.A.A. records.

In the official closing ballgame of the season, St. Michael's extended its winning streak to six by virtue of a 73-61 conquest over Adelphi. Once again the two keys to the Saints' success were defense and balanced scoring as the Purple placed four men in double figures.

Playing a deliberate offense along with a hustling defense, the Knights were able to leave the hardcourt at halftime with the scoreboard reading 33-25 in their favor.

The second half opened with Adelphi trying to cut into the St. Mike's lead. They never were able to come any closer than 9 points as the Saints were able to capitalize on the free throws.

The Knights who were outscored from the floor by a 27-25 count completely outshot Adelphi from the free stripe line. They made 23 of 31 as compared to Adelphi's 7-for 14 effort.

Leading the Saints was Richie Tarrant who had 24 points, the fourth time out of the last five games that Dick had hit in the twenties. Following Richie was Fred Cerrato who had 17 points and who played a sparkling all around floor game.

Leading was Adelphi cause was Billy Mallis who had 18.

Travelling to North Andover, Mass., St. Michael's completely demoralized Merrimack 109-77.

Merrimack (13-7) offered no opposition to the bigger Saints who set a new scoring record.

The individual standout was Walt Baumann who had 36 points and had the honor of getting the Knights' 100th point. This output by Baumann was the highest output of any St. Mike's player since the regional finals in 1960 when Jim Browne threw 40.

The game was no contest from the start as Baumann with assistance from Richie Tarrant combined to score 32 first half points.

The half ended with the scoreboard reading 46-26 in favor of the Knights. Once again the stellar defensive play of Ed McDonnell and Fred Cerrato completely stymied the Merrimack offense.

When time finally ran out, the Purple had amassed their highest point output of all times and once again the Saints placed five men in double figures.

Dog-Sledder Places Fifth In World Meet

Among the various skills and talents proliferating on St. Michael's campus, we can boast of an active, experienced dog-sled driver.

Freshman Paul Jordan of Laconia, New Hampshire, participated for the fourth consecutive year in the World Championship Dog-Sled Derby in his hometown.

With 8,000 spectators watching, Paul "mushed" his way into fifth place. A trophy and $200 accompanied his fine showing. In 1961 and 1962 he was runner-up in the Derby. Lack of practice and being a last minute replacement for his brother added to the difficulties.

Paul owns six Siberian huskies and a lead dog one-quarter wolf, all from Alaska. The international event takes three days.

Each day there is a 20 mile run with teams from Canada and Alaska, as far south as Virginia and as far west as Idaho. During the first day Paul broke the world's record by seven minutes, but finished third.
